Read the paragraph. Find the text and answer the questions.

Dinosaurs used to rule the Earth sixty five million years ago. To learn about dinosaurs, scientists dig up bones from the ground. These bones are called fossils. Dinosaur bones tell us how dinosaurs looked. Most people think dinosaurs were huge reptiles but some were only as big as a chicken. Some dinosaurs were bigger than a school bus. Like all living things, some dinosaurs only ate plants and some only ate meat. These dinosaurs are called herbivores and carnivores.

1. When did dinosaurs rule the Earth? _____
2. Which dinosaurs only ate meat? _____
